

Yamamoto | Caliboso | Hetherington
a limited liability law company

Nathan T. Natori

Project Development Counsel

Direct: (808) 540-4500

Email: nnatori@ychawaii.com

Nathan T. Natori practices in the areas of real estate and project development, finance, corporate, healthcare, and public utilities law. Mr. Natori maintains his separate law practice, Natori Law Office, LLLC, and supports Yamamoto Caliboso on select projects.

Mr. Natori graduated magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, from Georgetown University in 1987 (government and history majors), obtained a Masters in business degree from the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business in 1992, and was a Comment Editor of the University of Pennsylvania Law Review where he graduated in 1990.

Mr. Natori is a former Board member of the Hawaii State Bar Association's Real Property and Financial Services Section, and Business Law Section. He was a past Board member of the Hawaii Supreme Court's Disciplinary Board (full three-year term), which is in charge of the Hawaii Office of Disciplinary Counsel. The Disciplinary Board is selected by the Hawaii Supreme Court.

Mr. Natori is active with the Honolulu community, and was formerly on the Boards of Iolani School and the Georgetown Club of Hawaii. He was President of the Iolani Alumni Association and the Honolulu Little League.

Mr. Natori clerked in New York City at an international Wall Street law firm (Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton), trained at the largest Hawaii law firm (Carlsmith Ball), and was a partner at a 400-plus attorney international law firm (Davis Wright Tremaine LLP based in Seattle). He also co-founded the Hawaii Law Group LLP where he was co-managing partner.